

Fig. 17 – Lower course of the Hilmand near Dastol looking downstream. River has cut into the Nimrūz Level. Barkhan field moving from the NW is terminated by the river (Photo: 27.8.71).

Fig. 18 – Lower course of the Farāh Rūd near Feizābād. River has cut into the Nimrūz Level. During the dry season water is restricted to scour pools (Photo: 31.8.71).

Fig. 19 - Lower course of the Khāsh Rūd west of Radzay Ghār. Scour pool in the river bend marks the beginning of a kharez system. The excavated material is piled up to little mounds on the Nimrūz Level (Photo: 22.8.71).

Fig. 20 - Openings of U-shaped tubes in the Sistān Beds burrowed by recent Crustacea along the low water line of the Hilmand near Chahār Burjaq (Photo: 25.8.71).

